¹ The performance quoted reflects fee waivers in effect, and would have been lower in their absence. All figures shown represent total return, except for those identified as yield. Total return is based on net change in NAV with reinvestment of all distributions. Returns for periods less than one year are aggregate and for periods greater than one year are annualized. Unlike a mutual fund, the performance of an index assumes no taxes, transaction costs, management fees or other expenses.

Performance data prior to 12/29/2006 is that of an unregistered predecessor fund, adjusted to reflect the fees and expenses of the Real Estate Securities Fund. The investment objectives and management of the predecessor fund were materially equivalent to the investment objectives and management of the Real Estate Securities Fund. The predecessor fund was not registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, and was not subject to certain restrictions imposed by the Act. If it had been registered, performance might have been lower.

² The Lipper Rankings are calculated by Lipper Inc., a Reuters Company, which is a nationally recognized organization that compares the performance of mutual funds within a universe of funds having similar investment objectives. Rankings are based on total return performance: with capital gains and dividends reinvested, with annual operating expenses deducted, but without including front- or back-end sales charges.

Past rankings are no guarantee of future rankings. Rankings are relative to a peer group and do not necessarily mean that the fund had high total returns. Visit www.GuideStoneFunds.org for the latest month-end ranking and ratings.

³ Portfolio composition subject to change at any time.

Standard deviation — A statistical measurement of distribution around an average, which depicts how widely returns varied over a certain period of time. Investors use the standard deviation of historical performance to try to predict the most likely range of returns. When a fund has a high standard deviation, the predicted range of performance is wide, implying greater volatility.

R-squared — Shows the percentage of a fund's performance that is explained by movement in the benchmark index. This shows the correlation between the fund and its benchmark. An R-squared of 100% indicates that all movements of a fund can be explained by movements in the benchmark. A low R-squared indicates that very few of the fund's movements can be explained by movements in its benchmark. An R-squared measure of 50%, for example, means that only 50% of the fund's movements can be explained by movements in the benchmark index.

Beta vs. Benchmark — Beta is a measure of a fund's sensitivity to market movements as defined by the fund's benchmark. A fund with a higher beta relative to the benchmark is more volatile than the benchmark, and a fund with a lower beta relative to the benchmark can be expected to rise and fall more slowly than the benchmark.

Beta vs. S&P 500® Index — Beta is a measure of a fund's sensitivity to market movements as defined by the S&P 500®. A fund with a higher beta relative to the S&P 500® is more volatile than the S&P 500®, and a fund with a lower beta relative to the S&P 500® can be expected to rise and fall more slowly than the S&P 500®.
